ELECTRIC ROMANCE

Concept and Event Planner: Christopher Confero

Photographer: Mark Broadway Photography

Sparks fly and ignite into love, in a maze of cement and steel filled with the rhythmic plinking of piano keys, the pop of bass strings and smooth, light tapping of a drum. There at Workplay, a gorgeous bride glides a tube of brilliantly pink lipstick across her lips. She anticipates sealing a kiss with the man she first met during his jazz combo all those years ago, when he had reached down to her from the stage during his set and whispered in her ear, "You look so pretty in pink." Passion and femininity now unite with unexpected touches, such as rich draping of hot pink canopy and a modern steel chuppah at the nuptial site. A lighting arrangement of gobo patterns and a lit monogram letter cast a magical spell as bride Krystal Torcivia enters, carrying a bouquet of roses, cox comb, and cascading mini callas, wrapped in pink textured ribbon. Her Heidi Elnora dress is a one-shoulder white mini, featuring a white leather studded belt and layers and layers of white tulle. *Lighting by A.G. Lighting, LLC. Florals by HotHouse Design Studio. Sofas striped with cerise amour fabric runners, lit acrylic coffee tables, glass cubes filled with rose petals and votives provide a welcome spot for guests to enjoy all the posh and sophistication of a New York City nightclub! The soft glow of lit pink cubes and globe lamps offers ambiance to the room, as do candles housed in fabric shades, and tapered and pillar candles upon the guest tables. A floral bed of pink and purple petals serves as centerpieces on tables covered in cerise amour linen. With cool sounds of jazz coming from the piano, played by Blaine Johnson, Sun Dolphin Productions captures it all, ready to be made into a one-of-a-kind DVD that Krystal and Groom David Haugen will enjoy for years to come. With a signature raspberry martini in hand, Krystal and David are ready for an evening filled with electric romance! Lighting provided by A.G. Lighting, LLC. Furniture provided by We Rent Atlanta. Martinis provided by Olexa's Cakes & Catering. Florals by Hothouse Design Studio. Tablescape created by Christopher Confero.

Eclectic touches of unparalleled taste can be found everywhere, including the couple's wedding invitations, place cards, and wedding cake. The accordion-style invitation is done on shimmering, heavy stock paper, featuring a custom monogram, designed by Weddings Etc. To celebrate the bride's passion for architecture, Olexa's Cakes and Catering created a wedding cake with asymmetrically stacked tiers, a subtle suggestion of a Frank Lloyd Wright design. An appetizer menu by Olexa's Cakes and Catering promises show-stopping culinary finesse: Gulf grilled shrimp with honey Szechwan glazed skewers; watermelon gazpacho; herbed boursin wrapped smoke salmon bites with capers and red onion; and warm goat cheese and roma tomato bruschetta and fresh basil.
